Lists Average Higher and Many Early Losses Are Wiped Out.

New York, July 12—A slightly better tone manifeested itself in the stock market today to the benefit of the general security list. Sentiment was mixed and the price movement at times was irregular and very uncertain, but the professional selling pressures lost some of its force and effect, and recovering tendencies developed as the session progressed.

After the first hour there was a sharp contraction in the volume of business and the bearish interests set to work for reactions from time to time. A heavy assault was made on Industrial Alcohol which was carried down fourteen points or so from the best figures of the day in the early afternoon. There was some disposition to regard this weaknessias a manoeuver to belp along short covering elsewhere and the unsettlement due to the incident was confined largely to the waker specialties.

The efforts to locate weak spots, a feature of the recent variations.

ACTIVE CURB STOCKS The efforts to locate weak spots, a feature of the recent reactionary movement. Continued after an irregular and uncertain opening. This was followed by a moderate raily which affected both railways and industrials alike. The general list averaged higher around midday, and many early losses were completely wiped out.

In the late trading the feature was the stability of the general list despite the break in Industrial Alcohol. The understone was strong and fractional railies were in order in the last hour.
